COLORS OF PORNOGRAPHY

AUDIOVISUAL INSTALLATION, 2016

Colors of Pornography is an investigation of color in mainstream pornography.

In the first step pixelation is used to emphasize the color scheme of the image. In the next step the color of each individual pixel is added together and divided by the number of pixels calculating the average color for each frame. The last step puts this calculated color back into context, so one can see the color of the whole porn clip next to each other and to other clips.

The work was exhibited 2016 in Weimars annual Summæry.

FREE COFFEE

PERFORMANCE, 2016

In various locations I gave out free coffee to people. While I was brewing it I had a one-to-one conversation. This conversation was recorded and interpreted by a speech recognition algorithm. The very bizarre outcome was performed later.

Shown at the transmediale, ACUD and Hababusch.

NARCISSUS' BACK

INTERACTIVE INSTALLATION, 2016

And Narcissus stares into his screen and falls in love with his reflection. But this time he can reflect on his own narcissism staring into the endless reflection of his back.

After Narcissus' Back was exhibited at ACUD Berlin, a second version Narcissus' Echo was exhibited at the show Niche Construction.

Narcissus' Echo replaces the mirrors in the bath stall and shows the opposing screen in the other stall creating an echo that gets interrupted when a person stands in front of it.

UNSEEN / FORGOTTEN

INTERACTIVE INSTALLATION, 2015

The TV shows a picture of a person sitting next to a cash machine. The picture overwrites itself line by line. After the 3 day exhibition the picture is erased, but the pixels actually stay the same, they are just in a different order. It will be forgotten.

In front of the TV a second display is lying on the ground, a cup is placed on top of it. The polarizing sheet was removed from the display, so it only shows white. A circular polarizer is placed in the cup, when you look through it you can see a story which is displayed on the screen. It is unseen unless you kneel down and look.

Exhibited in the Catalyst Gallery, Belfast

PEOPLE WATCHING PEOPLE

INTERACTIVE INSTALLATION, 2014

A room with an old TV and a red chair. On the TV is a loop of a person sitting on that chair. Once you sit on the chair a camera on the TV starts recording and when you leave the room you will be looped.

A feedback system of people watching people [...] is created. A person sitting in front of a TV has a very distinct meditative gesture. But once they realise that they get recorded, they become actors trying to surprise or entertain the next person.

PUBLIC PROFILE

PUBLIC INTERVENTION, 2014

In a demo-like intervention I asked people on the streets for facebook likes. At the same time I changed my personal profile to a facebook page, which made it public to everyone. My friends became my fans.
